We go forth to do our duty
And for truth to fight,
Let us keep in mind the watchword
We have learned each day
'Play the game and play it fairly,'
Honor Maui Nei"*

TESTS SHOW OLD WALLS ARE STRONG

The concrete walls of the 1921 MHS Administration Building have undergone structural engineering assessment, including testing of 14 cores taken from various parts of the building, and the news is good! The Engineering Report, funded by our EPA grant, reveals that Charles W. Dickey's dramatic and inspiring Mediterranean-style structure remains strong -- strong enough to again support a new roof, replicating the original in appearance.

Preservation architect Glenn Mason, using the engineering recommendations, has produced working drawings for the roof, and for "mothballing" and stabilization work, to protect and preserve the historic building until full restoration and re-use can begin. Friends are seeking more than $1 Million to carry out the roofing and mothballing, to ensure the safety of this important structure.

From the 1943 SILVERWORD

Concrete core samples taken from 14 locations were tested to determine the strength of walls and columns.

PATSY T. MINK CENTER to Continue Legacy of Noted MHS Grad

She rang the school bell...served in student body government posts... helped with student committee work...and was an honor student. Patsy Takemoto was a whirlwind, at Maui High and beyond. And, as a national and state legislator -- the first woman of Asian descent elected to the United States Congress -she blazed new paths for social legislation, and fought for gender and racial equality, education for all, and democratic ideals.

As Maui High's most nationally-known graduate (Class of 1944), Patsy Takemoto Mink exemplifies all that was - and is - the best of Maui High's teaching about democratic values, hard work and fair play. She extended those values to the national scene, especially through her stewardship of Title IX - the Patsy Mink Act of 1972, that ended discrimination based on gender by educational institutions receiving Federal funds. She was an advocate for peace, and for civic responsibility throughout her 40 year career.

The planned Patsy T. Mink Center at old Maui High School will continue her legacy, ensuring that her ideals, and those of her Alma Mater, continue to make lives better in the future.

A CLASS ACT

Last December, MHS alumni from the Class of 1966 came to give the gift of their time - on a Saturday! - to their Alma Mater. Their work day included a top-to-bottom cleaning of the former Band Room (those dirty louvers were a challenge!), and truly artistic blue and white upgrades to six 55-gallon drums which stand along Holomua Road as trash receptacles. A highlight was a visit from former Maui High principal, Calvin Yamamoto, who shared memories and lunch with the classmates. Mahalo to all who participated!

FRIENDS 2ND ANNUAL MEETING FEATURED MAUI HIGH SCHOOL: PAST ~ PRESENT & FUTURE

A progress report for the past year, and a presentation of plans for Maui High School's revitalization and future were highlights at the second Annual Meeting of Friends of Old Maui High School, held on April 14 at the Cafeteria at the Hamakuapoko campus.

Maui Mayor Charmaine Tavares spoke eloquently of her days at the school, which she attended as a Freshman in 1958. Mayor Tavares complimented the Friends and MHS alumni for their commitment to bring the historic school back to useful life, and pledged her Administration's support for seeing the project through.

A presentation by land-use consultants Chris Hart & Partners detailed the history of Maui High and its plantation background, and projected great potential and possibilities for the 23-acre site in the future. Goals for future revitalization were presented in the following Vision Statement:

The Old Maui High School site will be a model of economic, social, architectural and environmental sustainability, incorporating public/private partnerships and innovative energy-efficient design. It will serve the community as a fiscally-viable public resource. Future uses will reflect the site's history as a rural high school campus, and will include education and agriculture, as well as uses that continue the legacy of Patsy T. Mink. The site will retain its rural ambiance, serenity, and scenic beauty.

The master planning process, funded through a grant from the County of Maui, will result in publication of a conceptual Master Plan, which will include scenarios for the site, infrastructure requirements and costs, funding sources, and recommendations for further action.

Friends 2007 - 2008 Board of Directors Elected Two nominees were introduced by Friend's president Barbara Long: Mary Evanson, a founder and Board Member of Friends of Haleakala National Park and energetic environmentalist, and Charles Aruda, MHS '66, and long-time manager in the hospitality industry. After a unanimous vote, the two nominees, and all continuing Board members were elected for the 2007-2008 term.

Meeting attendees watched as consultants explained what the future might hold at the old Maui High campus

Mayor Charmaine Tavares praised volunteers' efforts, promised her support

Eugene Takemoto, brother of Patsy T. Mink, expressed his appreciation for Friends' work to preserve and re-use MHS in memory of his sister.

L to R: Reunion Committee members Ruth Mukai, and Co-Chairs Richard Higashi and Rodney Inciong, who received the Friends' True Blue Friend Award for diligence and dedication. Also receiving the award were Stanley and Barbara Chong-Kee for their work on the Reunion committee.

Friends of Old Maui High School MEMBER LIST

The amazing support shown by MHS alumni has brought the total number of Friends' members to over 910 (as of 3/31/07). We've had to reduce the type size to fit everyone into this issue of SILVERWORD, but you can check the Member List out on Friends' website, too. Mahalo for your generous support! These funds help us keep you - and the community - informed, ensure the safety of our MHS Archive Collection, and bring us closer to preservation of Maui High and creation of the Patsy Takemoto Mink Center.

My Notes

The history book about Maui High School - The Spirit Lives On - is about to go to press, to be ready for sale at the September Reunion. Thanks to all alums who graciously shared their memories, their tales of pranks and teen-age student life, and their precious photographs, memorabilia and yearbooks. These, and reviewing every available Malu Nani and Silversword yearbook, helped us compile a fascinating peek into six decades of life and learning at the Hamakuapoko campus.

The book is a complete, accurate record of school days experienced by thousands of students, whose experiences were also shaped by the events in their ever-widening world. Friends' publication of this important book is funded by our EPA grant, by major supporters, The Dowling Company and First Hawaiian Bank, and by Friends' members. As researcher/writer Jill Engledow and I read through the yearbooks, and talked with alumni, we learned much but also encountered questions. Here are a few. Maybe you can help us solve these mysteries:

Why was the Maui High yearbook name changed from Malu Nani to Silversword? The first issues, from 1916 until 1936, were called Malu Nani. In 1937, the yearbook became Silversword, and the lovely silver plant became the emblem for Maui High, and remains so today.

Early photos show a tall spire atop the Administration Building; in 1937, photos show boys on the roof, with the cupola-mounted spire. What are they doing? Are they repairing it, or removing it? Was the spire part of Charles W. Dickey's original design? By the 1940s, the spire is no longer shown in photographs. What happened to it?

Fads and fashions were a big part of school life, especially after World War Two. Saddle shoes and bobby sox, bow ties and neon-bright sox, and other Mainland trends were quickly adopted by Sabers and Sabernettes. Who remembers "choke pants?" We have photos of "drape pants" but no pictures or description of what the "choke pants" were. Do you have a photo?

Maestro Leonard "Red" Hawk, the famed MHS

Band Leader, wrote a number of songs in the 1940s, including "My War Lei". He penned lyrics and music for the Band for years. Does anyone remember them? What happened to the sheet music?

We are still searching for a reason behind the change, from Cecyl Holliday's original 1919 MHS Alma Mater: "our stride for knowledge" to the way it is now sung (and has been printed in yearbooks, handbooks, etc. ever since): "our strife for knowledge." We used the original in the history book, hoping to provoke a discussion about your school days at Maui High School -- was it really strife? Or do you recall those days with pleasure, as your strides brought you closer to accomplishing your dreams?

We want to hear from you, about these mysteries and your thoughts about the past and future of old Maui High School. Write Friends, or e-mail to friends@old-mauihigh.org. And come to the MHS Alumni Reunion in September -- let's keep the story growing, so the spirit lives on!
